INTRODUCTION

OXFORD COUNTY

Oxford County in Western Ontario with its 177 sq. miles is divided into 11 townships: Blandford, Blenheim, Dereham, Nissouri East, Norwich North, Norwich South, Oxford North, Oxford East, Oxford West, Zorra East and Zorra West.

Blandford, Blenheim and Oxford West were first surveyed in the year 1793; Dereham, Norwich North and Oxford North in 1799; Nissouri in 1819 and Zorra in 1820.

The Township of Oxford commenced settling in the year 1795, when land was sold at half a dollar per acre. The first white settler in the County of Oxford was Thomas Horner. He built the first mill, bringing the material from Albany, New York State.

The land of the County is generally rolling. Being an island county with neither ports nor harbours, it is well supplied with streams, rivers and creeks.

The City of Woodstock on the Thames River (pop. 25,000) is the county seat. There are two towns: Ingersoll and Tillsonburg and four villages: Beachville, Embro, Norwich and Tavistock.

Oxford County is noted for purebred Holstein and Jersey cattle, dairy farming, tobacco growing and cement manufacturing.

The Oxford museum in Woodstock is located in the City Hall, a building of the same design as the town hall in Woodstock, England.

The bell tower of Old St. Paul's Anglican Church on Dundas St. served as a jail during the McKenzie Rebellion.

Woodstock was founded in 1834 by Admiral Vansittart and it was known as Town Plot. It was incorporated as a town in 1852 and as a city in 1901.

The county takes its name from Oxford City, the capital of Oxfordshire in England.

PREFACE.

ENCOURAGED by the success of the "Standard Atlas of the Dominion," the undersigned have entered upon the publication of less pretentious, yet not less useful publications of historical and statistical importance. The first of this series—"The County of Oxford Atlas"—is offered under the impression that in its varied contents and worth as a book of reference, equal success, though in a restricted field, will follow.

In collecting matter for these pages the publishers have spared neither pains nor expense; and the tables supplied and the statistics given may be taken as scrupulously exact.

The publishers refer with considerable gratification to the completeness of the plans of townships, through which each lot and concession is brought under the eye of the reader, giving the name of the owner of each separate parcel of land; and all this through the personal visitations of responsible agents in each township. These township maps also show the churches, school-houses, the cheese factories, and all manufactories of note.

The new map of the County—prepared by Wadsworth, Unwin & Brown, of Toronto—exhibits every lot and concession numbered, with routes of railways, etc., invaluable from its fullness and its accuracy.

The new Railway and Postal Map of Ontario can not fail to commend itself to every one, while the map of Ontario's metropolis will be taken as a particular feature of the work.

The plans of Oxford's chief towns—Woodstock, Ingersoll, Tilsonburg, Norwich, Embro, Otterville, and Drumbo—have been prepared with great care, and will be found to exhibit all thoroughfares and public buildings of note; and the views of residences and manufactories, while exhibiting evidences of wealth and taste on the part of our patrons, add not a little to the importance of the book.

The geological map of Ontario—the work of French artists for the Dominion Government—is of itself worth the cost of the Atlas; while the Dominion map, showing all the railways and their connection with the railway system of the United States, challenges admiration.

A directory of the inhabitants of Oxford, with post-office address of each, is supplied, that will form a very valuable reference; while the classification of the patrons—their names, residence, nativity, date of settlement in the County—supplies data for the future historian of no little importance.

These features, together with the admirable statistical and historical sketch of the County, written for us by A. McCleneghan, Esq., of Woodstock, who has condensed so much valuable matter into the space put at his disposal, are submitted in the belief that their importance will be appreciated and the completeness of the whole acknowledged.

The publishers have to tender their acknowledgments for very valuable assistance to Thomas Oliver, Esq., M.P. for the North Riding of Oxford; to James Ingersoll, Esq., Registrar of the County; to David White, Esq., County Clerk, and to others; and also to Alexander McCleneghan, Esq., for his valuable and complete historical article, and to Wadsworth, Unwin & Brown, Provincial Land Surveyors, Toronto, for their professional assistance.

AN HISTORICAL RECORD OF THE COUNTY OF OXFORD,

Including Lists of the County and Town Officers, the Agricultural Production, Educational Statistics, Population, and a description of some of the Principal Towns and Villages of the County.

Of the "few acres of snow" ceded by France to England in 1759, no portion presents to the eye of the tourist or the agriculturist so inviting an appearance as the county of Oxford. It is true that its inland position affords not those aids to commerce or to manufactures that belong to sections watered by our inland seas. The whitened sail of the merchantman and the Red Cross flag of the Empire and of the Dominion are seen but a few miles up the mouth of our Thames, which is distant from any portion of Oxford at least an hundred miles; nor can we point to towering mount or falling cascade—we are without a Ben Nevis, and we have no Vale of Avoca.

The county of Oxford in physical peculiarities more resembles the midland counties of England than any section of country on this side of the Atlantic. In its primitive state, the towering pines of Blenheim had fellowship in those of Norwich and of Dereham; while the maple leaf was seen in richest luxuriance in the Oxfords, Zorra, and Nissouri. The earliest records tell us that in days long gone by, Indian tribes of the Chippewas, the Mohawks, and even the Eries, found a peaceful resting-place on the banks of the Thames, the Otter, and the Ouse. No portion of the county can be classed as unfit for cultivation. A subsoil of rich clay underlies the light surface of the southern portion of Blenheim; and when the last trace of the giant of the forest shall have disappeared, the least productive, while certainly the most profitably tilled lands will be those from which have been taken our finest deal timber. Excepting the sections indicated, the soil is exceedingly productive. The land is rolling enough to supply a free course for the rains of the fall and spring, and the absence of expanse of marsh, or even beaver-meadow, affords a guarantee for the health of the husbandman. No portion of Ontario is so well watered with living springs; and it was but simple justice on the part of Surveyor-General Chewett when he pronounced the section of which we are speaking as "the most valuable land in the Province." The exhibitions of agricultural products that may be witnessed annually, in every township, tell plainly enough that wheat and barley, peas and oats, and the roots and tubers so essential to profitable farming, all find a genial soil in the well-tilled fields of Oxford; and the rate per acre of production is proof of this, and of the industry and skill of our agricultural classes. Gentlemen familiar with the famed Genesee Valley of the State of New-York do not hesitate to pronounce in favor of Oxford for general productiveness and the enduring quality of its soil. Fruit-culture has not been neglected, and the annual shipments, to England and to the American markets, make it plain that the hardier fruits, such as apples, quinces, and pears, are not only a certain, but an abundant and a profitable crop, and an item of very material interest in the economy of the agriculturist.

The settlement of the county of Oxford was not rapid. Indeed, the settlement of Ontario, until a comparatively recent date, was like the seam on the sleeve of a coat—all at the outside. To trace the growth in numbers of its inhabitants, the wealth and the influence of the people, is not our purpose. It is enough to know that with but a moderate share of those trials that invariably attend life in the backwoods, about fifty thousand souls find homes, secure from any disturbing element, and in the enjoyment of all the blessings of civilization, within the borders of the county of Oxford.

Of the character of the early settlers, scant data is afforded. The pioneers of our civilization were of that good old stock who stood by the flag of England in the hour of dangers and difficulties—the father of our present Registrar, James Ingersoll, Esq., having, under promise of the tract of country now forming the three Oxfords, established a colony of U. E. Loyalists in the quarter indicated. Unfortunately for Mr. Ingersoll, at a time when all resources were exhausted, and when the helping hand of executive power was much needed, the then Governor, Simcoe, was recalled, and the settlement was left to struggle on as best it could; while Mr. Ingersoll had the mortification to find, shortly after, that all his hopes were blighted by the refusal of the new administrator to carry out the assurances of his predecessor.*

* The following, from the Upper Canada Gazette of September 13th, 1799, in relation to the heroic struggles of the early settlers, and in illustration of the patriotism and sacrifices of the late Thomas Ingersoll, and the late Mr. Elisha Putnam, and others, will not be out of place in the present work, having escaped the attention of other writers:

"The settlement from the head of Lake Ontario began about four years ago—excepting the Mohawk Village. In this period, several townships have so far increased in population and cultivation that there are several neighborhoods at convenient distances, until we come to the mouth of the river La Tranche or Thames, and supplied with more than a sufficiency of produce of their own raising for the residents. Oxford has this year one thousand bushels of grain more than will be consumed within itself. The settlements in these townships were commenced at a period when the undertakers and their followers were under every possible discouragement common to a new country.

"Among these were Mr. Thomas Ingersoll, an enterprising man of considerable property, and who held the minutes of the Executive Council for Oxford as his own; but not until the most or all of his property was expended did he discover, with others,

In the township of Norwich, through the agency of the late Mr. S. Lossing and others, at an early date, a settlement was formed of persons belonging to the Society of Friends. The habits of such a class, their peaceful intercourse and frugal ways, contributed not a little to the development of the section in which they lived, and their influence for good extended far and wide. Zorra and a portion of Nissouri gave shelter largely to persons from the highlands of Scotland, while a very considerable settlement of Germans—more properly Dutch—found a resting-place in the rear of Blandford, and in what is now East Zorra, Zorra having subsequently been divided into "East" and "West." A population so homogeneous was certain to cultivate the aids to domestic peace; and hence it is that the adherents of every church lack nothing of spiritual consolation in comfortable and, in many cases, really splendid edifices. Of the School system little need be said. Long since the log school-house passed away, and tuition through the influence of the birchen-rod exists neither here nor elsewhere in Canada.

A compulsory School Law, enforcing the attendance, for a portion of the year, of every child of the school age, a law comprehensive in details, carried out through trustees the choice of the people, and watched over by an Inspector of acknowledged parts in his profession, and as a citizen, with ample provision in school edifices and in appliances, leaves nothing to wish for.

In postal accommodation, Oxford stands in advance of older sections; and it may be said, to the credit of the post-office authorities, and of our Representatives, that there is hardly a household distant from a post-office over three miles, while all our leading roads are routes for the conveyance of daily mails.

Such has been the enterprise of the people of Oxford that, with but one or two exceptions where physical difficulties supervene, every concession and side-line has been made available for travel; while the western half of the county enjoys the advantages of excellent macadamized roads.

The Great Western Railway passes from east to west through the centre of the county—the division of the county into ridings following with slight variation this enforced sundering of the older from the newer townships. The Buffalo and Goderich Railway skirts the eastern portion of the county; while the Canada Southern and the Air Line pass through the southerly section. These great avenues of commerce are crossed by the Port Dover and Lake Huron Railway, a new enterprise, touching Otterville, Norwich, Woodstock, and Tavistock, joining Lake Erie at Dover, with the county of Perth at Stratford; while the Brantford and Port Burwell Railway, entering Norwich in the east, passes west through the heart of that important municipality, and, touching Tilsonburg, connects the Canada Southern with the Great Western at Brantford. Thus, no matter in which direction ingress to or egress from the county is required, a ready means of accomplishing the desire is at hand; while the presence of so many arteries insures to the agriculturist and to the manufacturer the most ample facilities—giving to the land a value almost as great as if situated in the neighborhood of a great commercial emporium. Add to these essentials the Credit Valley Railway, passing from Toronto, in an angular direction, through Drumbo, Woodstock, and Ingersoll, forming a connection at St. Thomas with the

that the business they were engaged in was, in fact, that which was to end in nearly or quite their ruin, by the escheating of the townships—a measure necessary to prevent speculation, and to do which discrimination could not be made. This taking place, for a while checked the rapid population of the province by hardy and well-disposed husbandmen who had just learned the value of the country. Mr. Ingersoll in particular, being already in the country with a numerous family, pursued his plan of improving the township by removing thither and many other families at his own expense, and persuading others to remain who had entered in it. They were all confirmed by the government in the small tracts they had begun on, as well as all the actual settlers in the other townships. These settlers being aware of the importance of roads in raising the value of property, early set about to open and extend them; and notwithstanding the numerous discouragements, and the immediate necessities of their families, they, in one year, at the expense of Mr. Ingersoll, cut and bridged a road from Burford to La Tranche through a wilderness of twenty-five to thirty miles. This was done previous to the escheating of the townships. Mr. Elisha Putnam, of that township (Oxford), by subscription has since continued the road from thence, thirty miles, to Allen's (Delaware) Township. There is a villa and a church raised and now finishing by Mr. E. Allen, after the model of that of the Mohawk Village. The subscription being inadequate to completely finishing the road, it was left in an unfinished state, but passable for sleighs. He has been by no means discouraged, but issued a subscription to cut a road from Allen's to the Moravian Grant, a further distance of fifty miles, to be ten feet wide, and the logs laying crosswise to be cut out twelve feet long. Without waiting the issue of the subscription, and relying on the patriotism of his neighbors and gentlemen in other parts of the province who hold lands upon that river, the Thames, he began, and has already opened half the distance, and promises, if the liberality of his friends be equal to it, that he shall immediately complete the whole. The Moravians will extend it seven miles, when it will form a junction with the old road, from whence there will be a good wagon-road forty miles to the mouth of the river. Thus we shall have by the ensuing winter a land communication with Detroit, and not a day's ride without settlements. Such is the enterprise of our western inhabitants, that one hundred and fifty miles of road are made without the least allowance from government."

Air Line, the Canada Southern, and the Port Stanley road, and it will be conceded that this portion of the Dominion has necessity for no farther extension of its railway facilities.

The stately mansion, with ample and costly surroundings of orchard and grapery, croquet lawn and kitchen garden, is as discernible in every quarter of the county of Oxford as in England; and the banks of the Thames, east of Ingersoll, are not equalled anywhere for palatial residences and for worth of natural scenery; and, perhaps, no better proof of the correctness of our premises in all respects could be supplied than the following, taken from the Woodstock Times, of August 21st, 1868, in respect to a picnic at Dunelg, the residence of Col. Skinner, M.P. for South Oxford. The writer says:

"Every Canadian and every Englishman, except Mr. Russell, of the Times, in describing Canada, points with more than ordinary emphasis to that portion of the Thames lying between Woodstock and Ingersoll, as well for the evidences of wealth that are seen here and there through the rich foliage of our modest maples, as for the grandeur of scenery and agricultural thrift. It was our good fortune years ago to pass one Indian-summer evening over the section indicated, when the mellow notes of a key-bugle, at the residence of the late Captain Graham, were echoed back by the harp or the guitar from another of the many hills that give effect to the landscape. Then it was that the road to Beachville was, perhaps more noticeable than at present—not that all that contributes to improve the appearance of a prospect has not been done here, but that patient industry and wealth have rendered other spots charming. But if ever the drive was interesting along the Thames, it was particularly so on the occasion of the festivities of the Thirteenth Battalion of Hamilton, at the residence of its gallant commander, Lieutenant-Colonel Skinner, at Dunelg, on Friday last. Although the men and officers, with a large party of the beauty and wealth of Hamilton, had reached the grounds by rail, still, from the prodigality of the officers of the Thirteenth, in the matter of invitations, the roadway was choked with vehicles bearing youth and beauty to the rendezvous. The sports had been arranged, and competition was at the point of greatest excitement when we entered the grounds. There were stalwart men throwing the hammer, athletes running races, and clubs at the stirring game of base-ball; while for the first time the people of this section were treated to an introduction to the game of la-crosse. The music of the exquisite band of the Thirteenth stirred the valley with sweet sounds, while the shrill note of the pibroch sounded far up amid the shrubbery at the handsome residence of the worthy entertainer. For half a mile in a circle, groups were found enjoying the scene, the pleasures of company, and the good things of life; while from the festive board of Colonel Skinner rang the mirthfulness of maiden innocence, or issued the hearty basso laugh of a grim son of Mars. There were missionaries of peace, grave counsellors learned in the law, and merchant princes—men at other times frigid in official consequence, but for this occasion warmed into congeniality by the happy influences that enveloped all; and the neighboring community had brought to their door a mirthfulness and a sight never dreamt of in the backwoods of Canada."

In 1792, Dereham formed a portion of the Talbot District, and its complete subdivision into lots and concessions was not perfected until 1822. The first lands granted in this township were by order in Council given to John and George Ball, Hon. Robert Hamilton, Robert Addison, and to the Hon. Peter Russell. It was not until 1834 that the government decided on offering land in this township for sale; although as far back as 1825 we find the names of sixteen residents, with a total of 66 acres of land, out of 63,722, under cultivation; with 5 horses, 26 oxen, 22 cows, and 19 young cattle. In 1861, the population of Dereham had reached 5477, being an increase over the census previous (1851) of 1833. Its productions had also multiplied in a marvellous degree, and at present its taxable residents number 873, having a valuation of acres of $1,416,304, with personal property amounting to $180,065, and an assessed population of about 4000, with 5911 cattle, 3266 sheep, 1616 hogs, and 1437 horses.

The township of Dereham may claim to have introduced, into Canada, the making of cheese as an article of merchandise. Following the plan of Herkimer and other American sections, the people of Dereham adopted the factory system, and, under judicious management, with a success that is highly creditable. That mammoth cheese, forming so prominent a feature of England's great exhibition, inaugurated under the auspices of the "great and good" late Prince Consort, was made in Dereham by Mr. Ranney, and its size and quality were no less a wonder to the people of England than to those of the neighboring Republic. Other sections have followed the lead of Ranney and Harris, of Bodwell and Hopkins; and the cheese factory and the school-house stand in equal importance and in equal numbers throughout the length and breadth of the country.

Dereham's production of lumber, once very considerable, is falling away; still Mr. Tilson finds profitable employment for his extensive mills, and now, with railway facilities to all quarters, is in a position to command remunerative figures for his productions.

The following, in respect to the early settlement of Blenheim, is from Sutherland's Gazetteer of Oxford. He says:

"Mr. Horner's advent to the western part of Canada was under the following circumstances: In consequence of services rendered to Colonel Simcoe, during the American Revolutionary War, by a Mr. Watson, an uncle of Mr. Horner—in remembrance of those services, the Colonel, on his appointment as Governor, invited Mr. Watson to come and settle in the colony, and to bring all his friends and relations with him, and, as an inducement and a reward for those services, he was promised a whole township. In virtue of this promise, Mr. Watson accordingly sent a son to Canada, who, accompanied by his cousin, Mr. Horner, arrived in Blenheim in 1793, and to facilitate their speedy settlement, the Governor instantly ordered that three concessions of the township of Blenheim should be surveyed for them, in which, after the survey was made, a site was chosen for the erection of a mill, which was required by the Governor should be established as one of the conditions of their absolute right to the lands granted, and as an encouragement to future settlers. After making the selection for the mill site, both the emigrants returned to the States. Horner alone came back to Canada, which he did with a view of settling in this county, bringing with him from Albany, N. Y., the materials and men to erect the mill in question. At this time the locality of his intended settlement and the surrounding territory were unmarked by a single feature of civilization. There was then no road communication from Niagara (then called Newark, and the seat of government) to York (now Toronto), and the usual mode of travelling and or the transportation of goods was by boat along the lake shore, so that the only approach to the county was by such route. Mr. Horner having conveyed his materials, etc., all the way by water from near Albany, drew in his boat to the beach of Burlington Bay, in the neighborhood of where the city of Hamilton is now situated. His cargo was thence carried to Blenheim on sledges, roughly improvised for the occasion, and drawn by oxen. Mr. Horner's mill was the first saw-mill erected in the county, but he seems to have been unfortunate in his mill speculations, for the dam of his first (the saw-mill), which was in working order in 1795, broke down before it had been in operation at all, and the grist-mill, which he subsequently erected, was destroyed by fire in 1809, and never rebuilt."

The inland position of the County of Oxford and the sparsity of its population, at the time of Canada's struggle with the neighboring Republic, deny us the opportunity of supplying our readers with tales of patriotism or incidents of individual heroism, common in the Niagara peninsula and in the West. Our agents, who were instructed to gather and note with fidelity every incident that might go, in after years, to make up Canada's domestic history, have sought in vain for material for sketch-work; and romance in a work of this character is out of the question. We have, however, been struck with the fact that eleven persons are each reported as "the first white child in the county." An aged negress in South-Norwich astonishes the section with the assertion that she was Washington's nurse; while she insists with feminine obstinacy to the truthfulness of the story of the hatchet and the cherry-tree. A writer such as Mayne Reed would have no difficulty in procuring texts for works of fiction in the hunting scenes enjoyed by the first settlers, and retailed by their sons. But there is a marvellous sameness in all these, and the man of business who consults this Atlas to be instructed, not for amusement, would care little for the details of bear fights or the prowess of the back settler against the ravenous wolf. The hardships of "going to mill," the frolics at weddings, and the incidents attending, as it were, the dawn of civilization, amusing and instructive as all are, are so much akin to similar stories from the pen of Mrs. Moodie, in "Roughing it in the Bush," that we must deny them a place, referring the curious to the very interesting book just mentioned. Oxford never was the settled home of the "son of the forest," and of Indian traditions we have few; and, strange to say, Gourley, in his Gazetteer, passes these unnoticed. An incident of early life, in connection with the mercantile pursuits of our present Registrar, Mr. Ingersoll, may not be out of place, as illustrative of Indian character and the white man's difficulties. It was long, long ago, at the dullest time of the year, when an Indian matron walked into Mr. Ingersoll's store on the banks of the Thames (now the town of Ingersoll), and sought to barter her baskets and other handiwork for camp supplies, the warriors of the band being then absent in the West. Mr. Ingersoll, at the time, was in no mood for Indian supplies, as his stock was meagre in the extreme, and strips of cloth hanging from the ceiling were required to hide the nakedness of the shelves; while the latest news from York conveyed the depressing information that the batteaux, carrying the supplies for imperial wants and for the necessities of the settlers, were, by an adverse wind, forced to seek safety in putting back to the shelter of Presque Isle.

Mr. Ingersoll was in the act of wringing his hands at the gloomy prospect before himself and his neighbors when the squaw opened the matter of an exchange of commodities. In a manner quite unusual and quite unexpected, Mr. Ingersoll declined to traffic, advancing the fact that his stock was low. The squaw feeling the dignity of her tribe insulted, and seeing her hopes blasted, for she had travelled more than thirty miles on her commercial mission, drawing herself up to fullest stature, with a look unlike wheeled toward the opened door and left the shop remarking in tolerable English, that "Mr. Ingersoll might well be proud of his d—d big store."

"... Eve's matron smile

It was not, as we intimated, in participating in the defence of the country, that the pioneers of Oxford spent the dawn of their existence in the wilds of Canada. It was in the less exciting struggle to subdue the forest, and to open up avenues of communication to the outer world, that years of toil and hope were spent; and many of those sturdy men, sturdy in intellect as well as in loyal resolves and energy, yet live to see their sons in places of prominence in all the walks of life. Indeed, it is a circumstance creditable to the people of East Nissouri and of the Zorras, that a greater number of young men of the Mathesons, the Camerons, the Sutherlands, the Murrays, the McKenzies, the Olivers, the McKays, and the Munros, grace our pulpits, the courts, and the counting-room, than of any other section of the country, numbers taken into account. In common with every section of Canada, Oxford, has increased marvellously in wealth and importance—reference to the schedules elsewhere supplied will demonstrate this—under the influences of our domestic institutions, that are, happily, free from the blighting influences of the democracy across the border. Positions of trust are held, not on the frail tenure of party existence; and the intelligence of our people, as years roll onward, finds its highest aspiration in the hope that the land of the maple leaf will forever maintain its distinguished position in the Empire that acknowledges the sovereignty of her who, the other day, was awarded, by her faithful Parliament, the august title of "Queen of Great Britain and Ireland and Empress of India;" and irrespective of party, the prayer of all is, that we may live in the fear of God, in dutiful allegiance to the Crown and Constitution of the Realm, and in brotherly love and Christian charity toward each other.

WOODSTOCK, March, 1876.

THE REPRESENTATION OF THE COUNTY OF OXFORD.

Before entering upon the subject of the representation of the County of Oxford, it may not be out of place to state that, in 1792, Letters Patent were issued by Lieutenant-Governor Simcoe, dividing the province of Upper Canada into counties, and apportioning the representation thereof.

The following are the names of the counties, with the number of representatives they were sending to the House of Assembly, viz.: Glengary, 2; Stormont, 1; Dundas, 1; Grenville, 1; Leeds and Frontenac, 1; Ontario and Addington, 1; Prince Edward, 1; Lenox, Hastings, and Northumberland, 1; and York, 1; Lincoln, 1; Norfolk, 1; Suffolk and Essex, 1; Kent, 2—making in the whole, nineteen counties, and fifteen representatives. At this time there was no County of Oxford, the Township of Oxford having been surveyed only in 1793; but the territory in it was, as we have before stated, probably part of the County of Norfolk, which a few years later composed with the counties of Oxford and Middlesex, the district of London.

There is no official list to be found of the members elected for the different counties above enumerated during the first and second Parliaments, 1792 and '96. The following names are given as those of members elected in 1792, and, we believe, are correct:

ANGUS B. MACDONELL,	DAVID M. ROGERS,
JOHN McDONNELL,	ANGUS MACDONNELL,
ALEXANDER MACDONNELL,	D. W. SMITH,
ROBERT J. D. GRAY,	RICHARD BEASLEY,

JOHN THOMPSON,

The Hon. D. W. Smith, having been elected to represent the counties of Norfolk, Oxford, and Middlesex, in 1800, may be supposed to have represented the County of Norfolk in the first two Parliaments.

In 1798 an act was passed for the better division of this province (38 Geo. III., chap. 5), from which we extract the following:

"The townships of Burford, Norwich, Dereham, Oxford on the Thames, Blanford and Blenheim do constitute and form the County of Oxford."

Another act of the same Legislature passed on the 4th July, 1800, "for the more equal representation of the Commons of this province in Parliament," states that:

"The counties of Oxford, Middlesex, and Norfolk shall, together, be represented by one member."

Under this act, those three counties were represented from 1800 to 1804—i.e., in the third Parliament, by the Hon. D. W. Smith, and in the fourth Parliament, 1804 to 1808, by Benajah Malory.

During the fifth, sixth, and seventh Parliaments—i.e., from 1808 to 1820—the counties of Oxford and Middlesex are found to be represented by one member: the members elected being, in 1808, Benajah Malory; in 1812, Mahlon Burwell; in 1816, Mahlon Burwell. From 1820 to the union—i.e., during the eighth, ninth, tenth, eleventh, twelfth, and thirteenth Parliaments—there was one representative for Oxford alone, the members elected being: in 1820, Thomas Horner; in 1824, Thomas Horner and Charles Ingersoll; in 1828, Horner and Malcolm; in 1830, Charles Ingersoll and Charles Duncombe; in 1835, Charles Duncombe and Robert Alway. Duncombe having left the country, his seat was declared vacant, and the constituency passed to Roger Rollo Hunter and Robert Alway.

After the union in 1840, Oxford was represented by F. Hincks, now Sir Francis Hincks.

In 1844, Mr. Robert Riddell was elected; and in 1848, Peter Carroll and Hon. F. Hincks.

In 1851, Hon. F. Hincks was elected; after which the county was divided into North and South Ridings.

In 1854, the North Riding was represented by D. Matheson, Esq., of Embro, and the South Riding by Hon. F. Hincks. During the existence of the then Parliament, a vacancy occurred in the representation of the South Riding, when Dr. E. Cook, of Norwich, was elected.

In 1858, Hon. Geo. Brown, of Toronto, was elected for the North Riding, but electing to sit for the City of Toronto, in which he had been chosen, the constituency fell to William McDougall, Esq., while the South Riding was represented by Skeffington Connor, LL.D.

In 1861, the North Riding was represented by William McDougall, Esq., and the South Riding by Dr. Connor; and on the demise of that gentleman, by Hon. George Brown.

In 1863, the North Riding was represented by Hope F. McKenzie, Esq., of Sarnia, and the South Riding by the Hon. George Brown.

In 1867, the North Riding elected Thomas Oliver, Esq., of Woodstock; and it has been that gentleman's good fortune to retain in an eminent degree the affection of his constituents—making his connection with the people of the Riding as uninterrupted as the ties are cordial and lasting. In the same year the Hon. George Brown was elected for South Oxford.

In 1872, Thomas Oliver, Esq., was returned for North Oxford by acclamation, and E. V. Bodwell, Esq., was elected for South Oxford.

In 1874, Thomas Oliver, Esq., was elected for North Oxford, and Colonel James A. Skinner for South Oxford.

In 1858, under the Act abrogating the nominative principle in regard to members of the Legislative Council, George Alexander, Esq., was chosen as the representative in the higher branch of the Legislature for the Gore and Thames Division, a position he occupied with great usefulness until 1864, when, under the Act of Confederation, the nominative principle was restored. For a brief period, Mr. Alexander had no seat in Parliament; but in 1873 was called to the Senate of the Dominion, a tribute to his merits as a statesman and a patriot.

THE LEGISLATURE OF ONTARIO.

Under confederation which was consummated by the Imperial Act of 1867, separate legislatures were given to each of the provinces of the Dominion. Under this act, the election for representatives for the Ridings of Oxford took place for the first time in 1867. North Oxford returned George Perry, Esq., by an unanimous vote, while on a contest Adam Oliver was returned for South Oxford. In 1871, Mr. Perry was again elected by acclamation, and Mr. Oliver, after a contest, by a tremendous majority.

In 1872, a vacancy was created in the representation of the North Riding by the appointment of Mr. Perry to the position of Sheriff, when he was succeeded by the Hon. Oliver Mowat, without a contest. In 1875, North Oxford again returned, without opposition, the Hon. Mr. Mowat. Mr. Oliver was elected at the general election for South Oxford, but was unseated and retired, making way for Hon. Adam Crooks, thus giving to the Oxford the services of the Premier and the chief of his executive.

THE ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE.

It was not until 1840 that the County of Oxford enjoyed within itself the advantages of a convenient receptacle for criminals, or the speedy administration of justice was secured through the medium of a resident judge, with the appurtenances belonging to a county town. The late John Arnold, Esq., was, by appointment of the Crown, the first Judge. Under the act 8th Vic. chap. 13, it was necessary that the county judge should be a barrister of five years' standing. Mr. Arnold by this act became incapacitated, and the office was bestowed, in 1845, on David Shank Macqueen, Esq., who has continued the discharge of the duties of that office in a most efficient manner up to the present time. The office of Registrar for Oxford was first filled by Thomas Horner, Esq., a gentleman who had taken no inconsiderable part in the settlement of Oxford, and who had represented its people in more than one Parliament. Mr. Horner was succeeded by James Ingersoll, Esq., in 1834. The duties of the office from 1800 to 1850 were not onerous. Long intervals appear between entries, and, as a consequence, the emoluments of the office were insignificant in the extreme. Indeed, when the office fell to the present incumbent, James Ingersoll, Esq., and the Registry Office was convenient to his own place of business in Ingersoll, the revenue from it and from the Post-Office—for Mr. Ingersoll was in early days a very centre of administrative forces—was barely sufficient to compensate him for the assistance he provided and for the stationery he consumed.

The office was removed from Ingersoll to Woodstock, in 1848, and Mr. Ingersoll (to the satisfaction of every person) has enjoyed health and vigor, aided by an efficient staff, for the very creditable discharge of the responsible duties of that office up to the present. The new Registry Office has not yet been occupied, but promises increased facilities with greater security.

The office of Sheriff of Oxford was first bestowed on James Carroll, Esq., who resigned in 1862, when Andrew Ross, Esq., was appointed. Mr. Ross's death, in 1873, made way for George Perry, Esq. The office of Clerk of the Peace was first and for many years filled by Wm. Lapenotiere, Esq., who, resigning in 1863, was succeeded by F. R. Ball, Esq., who is also Crown County Attorney and senior member of the law firm of Ball, Matheson & Ball, and since this sketch was penned has been appointed one of the Queen's Counsel for Ontario.

Mr. Foquett was Clerk of the County Court from 1840 to 1853; he was succeeded by James Kintrea, Esq., who held the office until 1864, when James Canfield, Esq., was appointed. Mr. Canfield is also Clerk of the Surrogate Court.

The office of County Treasurer was first given to Hugh C. Barwick, Esq., who discharged the duties until 1854, when James Kintrea took charge of the accounts and the finances of the county. In 1860, on Mr. Kintrea's removal from the county, the office was bestowed on the present occupant, H. P. Brown, Esq., who had been a successful manufacturer, and also a prominent municipal officer.

Prior to 1848, magistrates in Quarter Sessions conducted the business of expending moneys for public improvements. On the introduction of municipal institutions—i.e., township and county councils or corporations—under the auspices of the Baldwin-Lafontaine administration, all matters pertaining to public works and local government passed into the hands of the people, whose representatives compose the councils of those corporations; and so well satisfied are the people with the system, that no attempt has been made to abridge the power or circumscribe the scope of popular action. Thus it is that means are found for the better development of the country, the construction of public works, and the extension of our comprehensive system of education. On the introduction of municipal institutions, the Hon. P. B. de Blaquiere was appointed by the Crown as Warden of the district. An able and a popular man was Mr. de Blaquiere, and traces of his administrative parts and of the wisdom and patriotism of the gentlemen composing the council of the people in that early day, are still extant.

CUSTOMS AND EXCISE.

It was not until 1856 that the advantages of a port of entry were accorded to Woodstock; from 1854 to 1866, Woodstock had been but an outpost of Stamford. Jordan Charles, Esq., discharged the duties of the Customs and the Excise up to his demise in 1866, at which time the Customs department was given to the present efficient officer, W. H. Van Ingen, Esq., while Mr. J. L. Charles was intrusted with the Excise branch. Shortly after his appointment, Mr. Charles left the country, when the double duties fell to Mr. Van Ingen, who held the charge for about half a year. In 1868, John McWhinnie, Esq., was appointed to the Excise or Inland Revenue, and Mr. Van Ingen fell back on the duties of his office proper, that of the Customs. Ingersoll is now and has been for a short time an outpost of Woodstock, and to the business of that thriving town the advantage of a port of entry must be considerable.

DESCRIPTION

OF SOME OF THE

PRINCIPAL TOWNS AND VILLAGES IN OXFORD COUNTY.

THE TOWN OF WOODSTOCK.

Woodstock proper—that is to say, the government appropriation for the site of the town—embraced that portion of land lying north of Dundas street and west of Riddell street, and bounded by the Thames and the second concession of Blandford; so that, according to the disposition under Governor Simcoe, the “town plot” was the extreme westerly portion of the County of York, opposite Oxford, and washed by the Thames.

Except the nucleus of a village formed under the auspices of Captain Drew, R.N., around St. Paul's Church, all else was a comparative wilderness as late as 1832.

The history of Woodstock is the history of most Canadian towns. The progress of agriculture in the neighboring townships, the opening up of avenues of trade, and the introduction of manufactures—these were the instrumentalities to the centralization of influences and the growth of population. It is to no fortuitous circumstance that Woodstock owes its gradual progress and its present position. Without mechanical power in our portion of the Thames, without a trade in lumber, or a specialty in any respect, the growth of Woodstock can only be attributed to the influences we have stated, and to the canny perseverance and thrift of our people.

The construction by the government, in 1843, of the macadamized road now, and since the date stated, constituting our main highway from the east to the west, was a very material help to the progress of the place; and after the opening for traffic, in 1853, of the Great Western Railway, an additional incentive was supplied. Still the onward progress of the town was never spasmodic, and the growth attained has supplied few particulars, either to the chronicler of the press or the gazetteer, worthy of note, if we except the movement of the Presbyterian Church in 1838, to organize themselves and to possess the services of a minister of their own faith. In regard to that movement, we may state that a great effort was made by the Presbyterians of Woodstock and Stratford to enjoy the services of the Rev. Mr. Allan, then a missionary in Canada, conjointly, two Sabbaths in the month each. This arrangement lasted for nearly two years. Having found the travel through what was then for the most part a dense wilderness, every second week, more than he could well undergo, Mr. Allan, in 1840, resigned his charge of Woodstock.

In March, 1840, the first effort was made toward the erection of a church, and the site chosen was the acre of ground given, in 1837, by Sir Francis Bond Head. The Presbyterians of Woodstock subscribed largely, their means considered; these subscriptions were supplemented by contributions from friends in Zorra and Blandford, and after experiencing many difficulties, a very comfortable church was erected. Even to this day the struggles of those pioneers of Presbyterianism, in Woodstock, are remembered to the honor of all concerned.

In 1843, the disruption took place, and here again the strong will and steadfast purpose of the “sons of the North” were manifest. The pulsations that shook Scotland from end to end extended even to the wilds of Canada, and the little band of Free Presbyterians in Woodstock did not hesitate long as to the course to pursue. Shenston tells us that in furtherance of a separate pulpit and the support of a minister, gigantic efforts were made.

The name of W. C. McLeod, Esq., appears prominent among those interested in the new movement; while the success that crowned the struggle is by the same authority placed, and in no speech of flattery, to the credit of John Douglas, Esq. The Rev. W. S. Ball was the first Free Church minister of Woodstock, and during his ministration a large and influential congregation was created. Not content with this, a Gaelic church followed; and it too, in point of numbers and usefulness, is second to no other place of worship in the town. The Rev. W. T. Mc. Mullen, who succeeded Mr. Ball, in Knox church, has greatly enlarged and otherwise improved the means of grace; while the members of the Gaelic or Chalmers church, under the Rev. John MacTavish, contemplate adding materially to the capacity of their building.

In connection with the religious bodies of the town, it is pleasant to be able to state that all the other churches evidence the spirit of progress. The Methodist connection are engaged in the construction of a magnificent edifice, and it will be no fault of the energetic minister, the Rev. J. B. Clarkson, if the followers of Wesley in Woodstock are in any respect behind others in church accommodation. The regular Baptists have a very comfortable building, and a growing congregation that before long will require increased accommodation. The handful, so to speak, of persons to whom Mr. Landon, in past times, addressed words of comfort have multiplied amazingly.

St. Paul's, the oldest church in the town, is to be supplemented by a structure of elegant proportions; and that difficulty experienced by the members of the Anglican Church—the place of worship being remote from the congregation—is to be overcome. The new church will be placed on that most admirable site south of Dundas and east of Wellington streets.

The Roman Catholics, though few in number, enjoy ample privileges in their neat church on Winniett street.

Of manufactures, as we before stated, we have few of note. The barrel factory owned by T. J. Clarke, Esq., has been, perhaps, most beneficial to the town. His Coal-Oil Works is another important aid, and so also the Cabinet Factory of Hay & Son. Miller's Cloth Works, the Ontario Spinning Works, Whitelaw and Huggins's Machine Shops and Engine Works, and the Iron Works Company, in addition to Forrest & Nasmyth's Flouring Mills, Schofield's Planing Mills, and Richards's Broom and Soap Factories, Colleen's Ale, Porter, and Beer Establishment, and Holling and McGee's Tobacco Works, all contribute to the good of the town and neighborhood—and these are not all; while the merchants cultivate patronage in city-like premises, and by courteous attention and rigid economy, content with most moderate profits, are all seemingly prosperous. Mr. P. Slight, we must mention, is pushing to completion a steam grist-mill (the Oxford Mill) which will command attention.

Few towns in Canada can boast the possession of journals of higher merit than belong to Woodstock. Two of them are venerable with years—the Sentinel, dating from 1854, and the Times from the year following. The Review has not had the opportunity, through length of years, for either the evil or the good (let us hope little of the former) achieved by its contemporaries. Its columns, however, indicate excellent management and a long life. The first named is owned by Messrs. G. R. & A. Pattullo, the second by Mr. Francis, and the third by Messrs. F. J. Gissing & Laidlaw. All are worked on machine presses, and the two last employ steam-power.

There are two banking establishments in the town—the consolidated Bank of Canada, under the management of Mr. T. McDonald; and the Canadian Bank of Commerce, under Mr. W. A. Sampson. The Oxford Permanent Building and Savings Society is an institution of the place that indicates the thrift of the people and the business management of its Secretary, Mr. Charles L. Beard; and, like every other place of pretension, Woodstock has its Masonic Lodges, its Odd-Fellows' Halls, its Temperance Lodges, its Y. M. C. A., and its Ladies' Aid and other benevolent institutions; while the streets, public places, and private dwellings are supplied with a quality of gas new to the Canadian public, and at a greatly reduced price, with public parks and surroundings of surpassing beauty, and a residence in the county town of Oxford, can not but be desirable.

CANADIAN LITERARY INSTITUTE.

This Institution was originated by and is now under the control of the regular Baptist denomination of Canada. Its charter was obtained in June, 1857; was first open for instruction in July, 1860; first building burned in January, 1861; rebuilt in 1861-2, and reopened in September, 1862.

It originally occupied but three acres of land, and the first buildings were valued at $21,000; it now covers and occupies thirty-six acres of land, and the buildings are worth $50,000; all of which sums were the voluntary gifts of the denomination, aided by the business community of Woodstock to some extent. In addition to the subscriptions for buildings and land, some three or four thousand dollars are annually contributed to pay the salaries of professors in the theological department. The literary department is self-sustaining, so also the boarding department, which is under the charge of a Steward and Matron, and under whose care upward of one hundred students are provided for. The number annually enrolled is about 200, probably one third of which have the ministry in view. In the literary department both sexes are admitted, and is attended by persons from various denominations. The institution was designed by its promoters to supply a felt want—viz.: to offer facilities for obtaining a higher literary training than at that time could be obtained at grammar schools, and especially by lady students; also to establish a special course of theological training for young men having the ministry in view.

This fine property is located in the southeast part of the town, commanding a fine view of the whole town and surrounding scenery, for which Woodstock is noted. The buildings are well arranged and present a fine appearance. The property is held in trust by fifteen trustees, five of whom are elected annually. An Executive Committee of seven manages the financial affairs.

The following is the present Board of Instruction:

Rev. R. A. Pyfe, D.D. Principal Dogmatic and Christian Theology; Rev. John Crawford, D.D., Old Testament Interpretation and Church History; J. C. Yule, B.A., New Testament Interpretation and Evidence; J. E. Wells, M.A., Principal in Dr. Pyfe's absence, Greek and Metaphysics; Jabez Montgomery, M.S., Natural Science; S. J. McKee, B.A., Resident Teacher in Charge, Mathematics; M. S. Clark, Latin; S. J. Taylor, Modern Languages; Hugh McQuarrie, Assistant in Latin and Mathematics; George McKee, Writing, and Assistant in Mathematics and English; Mrs. Sarah L. Nott, Governess, English History and Literature; Miss Sophia G. Brown, English Grammar and Rhetoric; Mrs. A. G. Revell, Music; Miss Ottilie A. Smith, Drawing and Painting; Miss Maria E. Revell, Assistant in Music; Steward and Matron, Rev. Robert Pickard, B.A., Mrs. Robert Pickard.

INGERSOLL.

From 1852 to 1865, Ingersoll was but an incorporated village. The first reeve or executive officer was John Galliford. Thomas Brown (the present reeve), for two years succeeding, held that distinguished position, followed, in 1855, by James F. McCarthy, Esq. In 1856 and the two following years, Mr. Galliford was reeve. From 1859 to 1863, Adam Oliver, Esq., held the position, when he relinquished it to Mr. Galliford. In 1865, Ingersoll took the status of a town, with Mr. Oliver as first Mayor. In 1866, Mr. Oliver was again chosen to that office, followed, in 1867 and 1868, by Mr. Galliford. In 1869, John McDonald, Esq., was elected to the position, followed by James McCaughey in 1870 and 1871. In 1872, Mr. McDonald again took the civic chair, which he relinquished, in 1873, to Peter J. Brown, Esq. In 1874, C. H. Sorley, Esq., was elected Mayor, and occupied the position, with credit to himself and advantage to the corporation, for two years, making way, in 1876, for Mr. John McDonald. Thus we see in twenty-four years only eight gentlemen have been honored with the position of Chief Magistrate.

THE CORPORATION OF INGERSOLL FOR 1876.

Ingersoll, in the enterprise of her people, may be said to have had a decided advantage over the sister town of Woodstock. With a just appreciation of their situation, the people of Ingersoll early pushed a road into the heart of the lumber section to the south, and by establishing manufactures, and in the exportation of lumber, a measure of prosperity was secured that proved the prudence of the venture. Although the agricultural statistics given elsewhere would indicate otherwise, Ingersoll is the centre of the great dairy trade of Oxford; and at Ingersoll was held that exhibition of the staple products of Oxford intended to represent the capabilities of this section at the great Exposition of 1876 at Philadelphia, at which the following prizes were awarded: Spring wheat, Fife: 1st, Alex. Wood, East Zorra; 2d, Robert Forbes, West Zorra; 3d, F. Burgess, Drumbo. Morgan wheat: A. Burgess, Drumbo, special. Golden Drop wheat: 1st, John Clarkson, West Oxford; 2d, E. Cook, West Oxford. Buckholder, South Norwich. Winter wheat, Clawson: 1st, William Harris, Dereham. Six-rowed barley: 1st, James Sutton, Drumbo; 2d, John Sutton, Drumbo; 3d, John McKay, West Zorra. Golden-vine peas: 1st, E. Broughton, Blenheim; 2d, J. B. Munroe, Drumbo; 3d, A. Wood, East Zorra. Peas, White Marrowfat: 1st, R. W. Barr, Woodstock; 2d, R. Burgess, Drumbo. Peas, Multipliers: 1st, A. B. Moore, Otterville; 2d, John Burns, Ratho. Peas, Black-eyed Marrowfat: 1st, D. Wakefield, Blenheim; 2d, Wm. Harris, Mount Elgin. Crown peas: 1st, George A. Munroe, Embro; 2d, J. B. Munroe, Embro. Early June peas: 1st, Isaac Edwards, North Oxford. White oats: 1st, Alexander Bradburn, Dereham; 2d, S. S. Burtis, Burgessville; 3d, R. Burgess, Drumbo. Black oats: 1st, S. S. Burtis, Burgessville; 2d, Joseph Brough, Otterville; 3d, Thomas Carr, West Zorra. Flaxseed: 1st, J. H. Brown, Beachville. Large Field beans: 1st, J. H. Moore, Otterville; 2d, C. Lewis, Salford; 3d, J. W. Elliott, Mount Elgin. Small Field beans: 1st, C. Lewis, Salford; 2d, S. Burgess, Burgessville. Buckwheat: 1st, J. H. Moore, Otterville; 2d, F. Comfort, Otterville. Millet: F. Comfort, Otterville; 2d, A. B. Moore, Otterville. Red clover: 1st, William Ramson, Otterville; 2d, A. B. Moore, Otterville. Timothy-seed: 1st, C. Lewis, Salford; 2d, A. Post, Mount Elgin; 3d, J. H. Moore, Otterville. Hungarian seed: 1st, F. Comfort, Otterville. Strained honey: 1st, Albert Post, Mount Elgin. Beeswax: 1st, A. Post, Mount Elgin. Red Glazed corn: 1st, Robert Malcolm, Springfield. White corn: 1st, William Ramson, Norwich. Judges: William Peers, John Forrest, John Markham, T. D. Millar, William S. King.

Of the many notable establishments in Ontario for the production of agricultural implements, machinery, etc., that known as the Noxon Brothers Company, of Ingersoll, is perhaps the most extensive. It was established in 1856, and incorporated in 1872, with entirely new premises of most elaborate proportions, at a cost in buildings alone of upward of $35,000. It gives employment to an average of 130 skilled workmen, with a yearly business of a quarter of a million dollars.

Adam Oliver & Co. have a very extensive establishment, and are contractors on a large scale, and dealers in lumber, etc. Their saw-mill has a capacity of 10,000 feet per day, while their trade is made up of shipments of doors, sash, blinds, cheese-boxes, etc., and they employ throughout the year an average of seventy men. Oliver's business was established in 1853, and has been of continued prosperity to the enterprising firm, and to the town and neighborhood. Christopher & Brothers are in the same line of business, with an establishment employing a hundred men.

The Woollen Mill of Waterhouse & Bradbury is another ornament to the place, and a further evidence of the “push” characteristic of Ingersoll; while the cabinet factory owned by McIntyre & Crotty is without an equal in the county. Bailey's carriage factory and Eastwood's foundry are other evidences of prosperity.

Like most Canadian towns, Ingersoll is amply provided with churches, and, what is of still greater importance, the ministration of the gospel from the different pulpits is not without effect in securing the presence of the great bulk of the people at their respective places of worship on the Lord's Day.

The press of Canada has no indifferent representation in the Ingersoll Chronicle and the Oxford Tribune. The former started in 1855, by the late J. S. Gurnett, Esq., and now ably managed by his son, Mr. G. F. Gurnett; while the latter, under the management of Mr. Harry Rowland, in addition to current politics and literature, is the special organ and advocate of the dairy interest of the section. The News, published by Mr. H. Constable, is less for party and more for general interests than the other two, and the indications are that all three find room and verge enough, and, in return, are sources of pleasure and profit to the publishers. The two devastating fires that visited Ingersoll not long since, if carrying suffering to many, have been the medium of improvement in the general appearance of the town, and it may with truth be said that few towns in Canada enjoy to a greater degree the evidences of wealth and culture that belong to Ingersoll.

A manufacturing centre of such proportions must require a very considerable circulation of money, and in Mr. Chadwick, the Manager of the Ingersoll Bank, the welfare of the town has its best friend.

EMBRO.

When Embro was projected, the future was not overlooked. It occupies an elegant plateau, from which may be viewed the rising hills, the broad expanse of agricultural prosperity, the winding stream, and the distant forest wealth of West Zorra. Its water-power has attracted capital, and its business prospects are good. Surrounded by substantial homesteads, there is none of the ephemeral, or “sufficient-is-the-day-for-the-evil-thereof” in aught that belongs to Embro. The father of the place, Donald Matheson, Esq., a gentleman whose name will be found in the representation of the County, legislative as well as municipal, has ever taken a deep interest in the welfare of his neighbors, and especially in all that contributes to the growth of Embro. It is a centre between Woodstock and Harrington, and Woodstock and Lakeside, and lies on the road between Stratford and Ingersoll. It has large congregations of the Presbyterian faith and of other denominations. It has several well-stocked stores, factories, and a daily mail. For more than a quarter of a century, the Rev. D. McKenzie officiated in the place and his work as a man and a Christian minister will not soon be forgotten. In addition to the duties of Postmaster, Mr. Matheson is Chief Magistrate, and has held the office of Clerk of the Division Court since it was established. Embro lacks connection by rail with Woodstock, on the one hand, and St. Mary's on the other. Embro has two good local papers, the Planet, conducted by Mr. Dawson, and the Review, by Mr. Hay.

BEACHVILLE.

This is one of the oldest villages in the western portion of the county. At one time it was the post town for the entire neighborhood, including Woodstock. The improvement of the county by railway facilities crushed Beachville's prospects entirely; still it is a clean, neat settlement, with churches, stores, etc., and has a daily mail east and west, and to Embro.

PLATTSVILLE.

This is by far the largest and most important village in Blenheim. It contains close upon five hundred inhabitants. It is situated on Smith's Creek, on the quarter-town-line, in the twelfth and thirteenth concessions. It contains two good general stores, two large flouring-mills, a saw-mill, a foundry, a flax-mill, a large cabinet factory, two stores and two shops, a post-office, and enjoys the advantage of a number of excellent mechanics of different arts. One drawback is the distance—four miles from a railway-station. This immediate neighborhood has a grist-mill and a saw-mill, on the third concession, owned by Mr. W. Laycock, while Mr. Christian Fry, on the eighth, and Mr. Shoemaker on the twelfth, offer great advantages. A. Tew, Esq., late Warden of the county, is the capitalist whose energy is contributing to the advancement of Plattsville.

SPRINGFORD.

This village derives its name from a fording of the small stream that passes through the section. Its population is about four hundred. Two general stores are owned by A. L. Wilcox, Esq., whose prosperity is the result of eighteen years of successful operations, with an average business of $20,000 a year. Mr. Henderson, the Postmaster, is also the proprietor of a general business. It has three hotels, a good brick school-house, two churches, Methodist Episcopal and Baptist, a cheese factory, making from seventy to eighty tons throughout the season, also a very extensive brick and tile manufactory, and a tannery. Springfield is on the Brantford and Port Burwell Railway, and is growing into importance. Cornell, a station on the Canada Southern Railway, is three and a half miles from Springfield.

OTTERVILLE.

The first settlement was made here in 1807, on a government grant to John Earls and Paul Avery, who were also given some machinery for the erection of grist and saw mills. These men sold to Messrs. Cook and Galloway. In 1881 and 1882, Peter Hamilton and William Hardy started a furnace for the smelting of iron, about a mile from the village. At that time, engineers were engaged in a survey of the river, with the view of securing navigation up to the smelting works. In 1810, Peter Avery, the first white child in the township, was born. In 1833, Mr. Asa Durkee started a tannery, and to this day carries on the business, every year extending his operations, and increasing the number of his friends. The enterprising firm the Messrs. Bullock are extensive dealers, and valuable aids to the county round. The present population is 800, and the prospect is that this number will be rapidly increased through the opening of travel, north and south, by the construction of the Port Dover and Lake Huron Railway, the advantage of the Canada Southern Railway, and the splendid water-power enjoyed for manufacturing purposes. At present, Otterville has two saw-mills, one woolen factory, one flour and two shingle mills, a cabinet and match factory, a tannery and turning establishment, with mills in the immediate neighborhood. Its churches are models of neatness, and its school-house is one of the best in the county; all watched over by a journal, the Argus, conducted by Mr. Holland.

DRUMBO.

This village is situated about the centre of the township of Blenheim. It contains four general stores, one foundry, one tannery, two extensive brick-manufacturing establishments, with all the trades necessary for a community. It has five places of worship, two medical men, and an excellent public hall. It is an important station of the Buffalo and Goderich and the Credit Valley Railways, with the village of Wolverton contributing to its growth. Drumbo has two mails daily via railway—that from Toronto coming via Stratford. Mr. Henry Muma, in addition to his extensive business, is the Chief Magistrate of the place. Drumbo is the head-quarters of Captain Pattullo's rifle corps attached to the Brant Battalion.

WOLVERTON (FORMERLY WARSAW).

This is a pretty little village, on Smith's Creek, on the eighth concession of Blenheim. It has a splendid flour-mill, a general store, and planing-mill, with one of the best and most English-like hotels in the county, a credit to the section, and to the proprietor, Mr. F. Meggs.

WASHINGTON.

This is a small village on the middle-town-line, in the twelfth and thirteenth concessions. It has a general store and post-office, etc., and the inhabitants are engaged in the erection of a temperance hall, and pronounce strongly against the traffic in liquors.

RICHWOOD.

This is another small village in Blenheim. It has postal facilities, two churches and business places, with a good school-house, largely attended.

CANNING.

If age gave importance and dimensions to a place, Canning should have been long ere this a city. It is sixty years since the first mill in Canning was erected; still its growth is not forward. The village has a post-office and stores, with the other necessities for an old and wealthy agricultural section.

PRINCETON.

This is a place of many years' growth, but the withdrawal of travel from the Governor's road to the new road from Brantford in 1843, greatly injured Princeton.

Still at no time were the prospects of Princeton better than at present. It is situated on the line of the Great Western Railway, twelve miles from Woodstock, and about seven miles from Paris. It has two good general stores, three grocery stores, three wagon and blacksmith shops, a very extensive drug store, owned by Mr. Gissing, tannery, tailoring establishments, and all the accommodation commercial and mechanical, that can be desired, with comfortable and spacious hotels. Its schools are excellent. The following religious bodies have places of worship: Episcopal, Lutheran, and Presbyterian. Princeton receives four mails daily; has a large town hall, and an office of the Division Court, of which J. Cowan, Esq., is Clerk. It was in the neighborhood of Princeton that the late Thomas Hornor erected the first mill in the county; here he died, remembered for his public usefulness and domestic virtues. Princeton exercises, through its public men, no little influence in the township and in the county; and it is represented in the defence force of the country by an efficient corps of rifles, under the command of Captain Williamson, with Mr. F. Galbraith as Lieutenant.

EASTWOOD.

This is a small place on the Great Western Railway, about five miles from Woodstock. It has an extensive grist-mill and a very large stave and barrel factory—the former owned by Mr. A. Burrows, the latter by Mr. John Beard. It has a post-office, carriage manufactory, store, and other aids.

INNERKIP.

This is a village in East Zorra, and on the line of the Credit Valley Railway, distant from Woodstock about eight miles. It has two stores, two hotels, and the services of two medical practitioners. It is in the heart of an excellent agricultural section, and a very considerable trade in lime is carried on. Bright, Ratho, and Chesterfield are also lively villages in the neighborhood.

STRATHALLAN.

There has been little attempt made in the last few years to increase the proportions of Strathallan. The agriculturists of the neighborhood are too opulent for that; and Mr. Lappan, with his store, the post-office, and a large and comfortable hotel, may be said to be the place in himself. It is the head-quarters of one of the companies of the Oxford Rifles, and the strength, efficiency, and appearance of that corps, at annual training, indicate the interest the people take in an important institution in our economy.

TAVISTOCK.

This village can hardly be called of the County of Oxford, the major portion lying in the County of Perth. It is a progressive place, has stores, factories, a post daily, and good hotels. It is about fourteen miles from Woodstock, and enjoys the advantage of two railway-stations, the Buffalo and Goderich Railway, and the Port Dover and Lake Huron Railway. In time it will be a distributing point for the salt of the Goderich region.

HARRINGTON.

Next to Embro, this is the most important village in West Zorra. Its population is on the increase, and its sources of prosperity, in the growing wealth of its agricultural classes, is unmistakably improving. It has a post-office, general stores, churches, and hotels, with mills, etc. Maplewood, Brooksdale, and Youngsville, all post villages, connect Harrington with Embro, which is the distributing point.

LAKE SIDE.

This is a village in the township of East Nissouri, on the westerly side of West Zorra. It has an admirable sheet of water for pleasure purposes, and is quite a resort in the heated term of our Canadian summer. It has a small store, post-office, place of township meetings, etc. Medina, Kintore, Dornoch, and Thamesford are post-villages, lying on the route to Ingersoll, the latter being a place of importance. Lakeside contributes a corps of rifles to the Twenty-second Battalion, and Thamesford one of infantry to the Twenty-sixth or Middlesex Battalion. The Lakeside company is under the command of Major Munro.

BURGESSVILLE.

On the line of the Port Dover and Lake Huron Railway, and midway between Norwich and Woodstock, is a thriving village. It has a daily post, several factories, and an admirable hotel, owned by Mr. E. O'Neill, Jr. Lying between Burgessville and the north of East Oxford are situated three post villages, Oriel, Vandecar, and Oxford Centre, giving abundant facilities of stores, manufactories, etc., to that wealthy section.

HOLBROOK.

It is a post village on the Woodstock and Norwich gravel road, about equal distance between the places named. It has a cheese factory, a general store on the co-operative plan, enjoys a daily mail from Woodstock, and has a very convenient and comfortable Presbyterian church. J. W. Nesbitt, Esq., is President of the store company, and is the popular Justice of the Peace and issuer of marriage licenses.

MOUNT ELGIN.

This is a village in Dereham, on the Ingersoll and Port Burwell macadamized road. It is in the heart of the dairy interest of the county, has a good store, a daily post, and all other necessities. Culloden and Verchouly are post-offices between Mount Elgin and Woodstock.

SWEABORG.

This place was formerly called Floodtown, but when mail accommodation was given the name was changed. It is five miles from Woodstock, in West Oxford, and about the same from Beachville. It was an important lumber section, and yet contributes considerable. In time, Sweaborg will attract attention from the beauty of the surrounding scenery and streams of limpid water. Mr. Carr's mills are important helps, and Smith's saw-mill, south, is an establishment of importance. It has two good stores, an excellent school, and is rapidly improving.

NORWICH.

From present appearances, Norwich bids fair to rival the most progressive of the towns of Oxford. It is nearly half way between Woodstock and Simcoe, and is the centre of the most wealthy portion of the county. It was the resting-place of that company of Quakers who contributed so materially to the well-being of the county, and whose descendants still cultivate broad acres and ornament the society of the township. The Port Dover and Lake Huron Railway and the Brantford and Port Burwell Railway cross each other in Norwich. It is the centre of our great fruit section, and the cheese business of the county is well represented in the neighborhood. Norwich has large manufacturing establishments, its present size taken into account; good stores, connection with Woodstock and Brantford by post routes; churches, schools, and benevolent and charitable societies, and might, had the Quakers not rebelled against a jail and court-house, have been the county town. It is the residence of Gilbert Moore, Esq., President of the Port Dover and Lake Huron Railway, and of Dr. Carroll, President of the Brantford and Port Burwell Railway. Its incorporation under legislative authority took place last January, and its municipal affairs are under the management of a council, separate from that of the township. Lately a weekly newspaper, The Standard, was started by Mr. H. G. Pilcher, and under favorable auspices. The typographical appearance, the selections, and the general tone of the paper are all indicative of culture. An office of the Division Court is in Norwich; J. Barr, Clerk. Mr. Benson Lossing, yet an active and intelligent resident, claims to have plied the axe that felled the first tree cut down in Norwich. The agricultural exhibitions in Norwich are evidences of long-accustomed wealth, and there is a thrift that is exceedingly pleasant to notice in the homesteads of the Norwich people. Dr. Cook, a former representative of South Oxford, resides in Norwich, and is a pillar of strength to every enterprise. The Royal Canadian Bank has an agency in the town.

TILSONBURG.

This is an important point in the southwest corner of the township of Dereham. At one time it was the head-quarters of a very extensive lumber trade; even yet no inconsiderable supply of that article is produced. It has had the advantage of the capital and great business push of Mr. Tilson, whose name it bears. Dereham Forge was at one time the name of the place, and iron ore from the neighborhood was melted and manufactured. The Canada Southern, the Air Line, and the Brantford and Port Burwell Railways touch Tilsonburg. It has many good stores, several extensive mills and factories, much enterprise in its prominent men; a weekly newspaper, published and edited by W. S. Law, Esq. It lies on the Ingersoll and Port Burwell macadamized road, and is a distributing office for Brownsville, Houghton, and other points in Elgin and Norfolk. Mr. Bain is, and has been for some time, the Reeve of Tilsonburg. The medical and the legal profession are both well represented in the town.

SCHEDULE SHOWING THE GROWTH OF THE COUNTY OF OXFORD.

SCHEDULE SHOWING THE POPULATION OF THAT TRACT OF COUNTRY NOW FORMING THE COUNTY OF OXFORD, AS GIVEN BY THE ASSESSORS, ELI HARRIS, AND DAVID CURTIS, IN 1812.

As this is the earliest record and one that gives, with but a very few exceptions, the entire list of the then inhabitants of Oxford, with the extent of their real and taxable property, we feel that its presence in this compilation is a necessity. The reader will not fail to notice the absence in this list of the names of the most prominent gentlemen of the first colonization—viz.: that of Mr. Ingersoll and Mr. Putnam. The records of the Township of Toronto, in the County of York, years before this enumeration was made, mention the removal of Mr. Ingersoll from Oxford, where he died broken-hearted. His residence in that section was near what is now known as Merigold's Point, on Lake Ontario. In 1826, however, we find Mr. Charles Ingersoll and his brothers, Thomas and James, among the partners of the early struggles of their father. Of Mr. Putnam, we have no trace.

It will be noticed that in several instances, in relation to personal property, such as cattle, sheep, hogs, and horses, discrepancies exist when compared with like figures under the census returns. To account for this, it will be necessary to say that taxation follows the one, while no inducement exists for forgetfulness in the other.
